Description

Džemara is a new brand engaged in production of organic mountain preserved products. Every jar is made of carefully picked goods, cooked in small batches in our agricultural household at an altitude of 550 m on mountain Jagodnja. We are all passionate about great food, closeness to nature and love for our production. I am also the co owner of two magazines, Ona Magazine and Chernogoria (in Russian language), food lover, food traveler and cook. With this new brand I am going to consolidate all my interests, conserve them in a jar and share it with the world.
