Bilateral Meetings

- Wednesday 12:00 - 14:00

Description

Info Tim Logistika represents the agricultural information market, which enables its associates to offer their products or make the purchase of raw materials for agriculture in one place easier. Agricultural producers and agrarian companies, as our members, gain profits and improve their business on a daily basis through trading, tracking information and reports and using our services. Clients have daily access to information about the supply and demand of agricultural and food products, while monitoring the movement of prices on the market. The current news from the agricultural market is regularly advertised. Associates are able to quickly and directly contact the potential buyers and sellers.
